

Beginners Guide

To Asking Questions with Oracle Cards.

What to Ask!

Need some help asking your question?

Let me reveal some secrets to help you get the hang of this.

Most people subconsciously want to know three things- What's going on? Where is this heading? And- Am I going to get what I want? And, everyone wants to know that the universe is listening to them and on their side.

You ask an oracle questions because you want some kind of certainty, reassurance, confirmation or revelation that will help you navigate your life with less fear and more security. This is a good thing to know before you start. Everybody wants the same thing. You are not alone!

Oracle card readings are awesome to give you quality answers if you ask quality questions!

You will get the very best answer for you if you follow these simple suggestions when asking your question.

Best -

Before you ask your question do a quick check on your mood.

Why?

Because your energy gets reflected in the cards.

Don't -

If you're too attached to the answer you want to hear or if you're in a bad mood, or obsessive about needing to know something (it's ok we all get like that sometimes)- regroup and come back later. Maybe meditate, go for a walk shake it off and be willing to hear what the Universe has in mind for you. It will always be better for you than you think!

Why?

Because the card reading will either reflect your dominant energy or the emotional edge to the situation and you will get confused about what they are saying to you.

Do -

Come to the cards with curiosity and an open mind- “let’s see what they say about this” always adding “ the highest good” and asking an open ended question like these;-

What do I need to know about “x” for my highest good?

If I enter a situation/ relationship with “x” what can I expect from the experience?

What action should I take about moving forward with “x” for my highest good?

Why do you add the “ highest good”?- Because when you ask about your highest good you will see what may have been hidden from you before and then you have a better understanding of what you’re getting into. You might get what you want but you could be very unhappy with it. You keep an open-end because life is not black and white and oracle cards are meant to help you understand your experience.

Remember -

Oracle cards are purposely written to make you ponder and rarely will give you a literal answer so even though you might want a yes or no answer, it’s better to ask a question with an open end. Life is all about experiencing a journey not about landing at a specific destination or goal. Even if you ask about that goal the cards will reflect your possible experience with it.

These tips will give you the most useful and accurate oracle card reading. Keep practicing and you’ll be amazed at how they reflect patterns and reveal useful guidance for living your best life in all areas- love, prosperity, intuition, family, creativity and more.
